It's time to pray.

Have you been concerned about your family lately?

So often, we remember to pray for other people, but we forget to pray for ourselves and for those closest to us. We simply forget the power of prayer and that God longs for us to be in prayer with him! He especially desires for each of us to be in prayer about our family, the people closest to us on this side of heaven.

To help you pray for yourself and for your family, here is a short, bullet-point, seven-day prayer guide that covers nearly every aspect of life.

Pray for your parents:

- Ask God to bless them.
- Pray that they would be treated with honor, dignity, and respect by everyone they encounter.
- Pray that they also would honor all people.

Pray for yourself:

- Pray that you would see your parents the same way God sees them and love them the way he loves them.
- Pray that you would always show honor and respect to your parents.
- Ask God to help you forgive all their failings from your heart.

Pray for your children:

- Ask God to help your kids show godly honor to you (and any other parents) the way God's Word prescribes.
- Pray for your children to live long lives in the land their Father gives them.
- Ask the Lord to give your children a keen sense of honor toward all their authority figures (pastors, teachers, etc.).

Pray for your parents:

- If they are not already saved, ask the Lord to save them and draw them to himself.
- Ask God to help your parents to be hungry and thirsty for Jesus.
- Pray for your parents to be people of prayer and of God's Word.

Pray for yourself:

- Pray that Jesus would refill you with his Spirit and wisdom every day.
- Ask God to show you how to disciple your children, so they also will love God with all their heart.

Pray for your children:

- Pray for your children to be full of the Holy Spirit from the womb (or from now on).
- Ask God to help your children hear the voice of the Lord behind them saying "This is the way; walk in it" and that they would never turn to the right or the left.
- Pray that your children would have a magnificent obsession with the Son of God.

Pray for your parents:

- Ask God to send his angels to watch over them, protecting them and all their belongings.
- Ask him to keep them healthy in every way, including by protecting their eyesight, brain function, and memory.
- Ask God to help your parents make wise decisions regarding exercise, nutrition, and healthcare.

Pray for yourself:

- Ask the Lord to send angels to protect you and every building and vehicle you are in.
- Ask him to help you make wise decisions regarding your own exercise, nutrition, and healthcare.
- Ask him to give you wisdom to guide your children's time, so they will be healthy and not overloaded or stressed out.
- Ask your Father to protect you and your family from all diseases, keeping you completely healthy.

Pray for your children:

- Pray angels would guard your children with a flaming sword that turns every way, turning them back from any dangerous path.
